

Above Sheathing Ventilation (ASV)

- Created by air space between the roof deck and metal roof panel
- Reduces peak cooling demand in the summer and helps remove unwanted moisture
- Painted Metal (SR28E81) with a 4-inch airspace has attic temperatures that do not exceed peak day outdoor air temperature

- ASV negates heating penalties associated with cool roofing in the north by using the air space as extra insulation in the winter months